Purpose: To ensure the preservation of biodiversity in the area where our hotel is located, to minimize negative impacts on natural habitats and to support the sustainability of local ecosystems. To contribute to the conservation of biodiversity by reducing the environmental impact of hotel operations.

Content:

- Definition of Regional Biodiversity: Our hotel works to protect the natural habitats and biodiversity value in the region where it is located. In this context, necessary measures are taken to protect local flora and fauna. Potential negative impacts on natural areas, ecosystems, and species diversity are regularly assessed, and action plans are prepared to reduce the pressure created by the hotel in these areas.
- Protection of Natural Areas: Our hotel participates in and supports projects aimed at protecting natural areas in its immediate vicinity. Environmental measures to be taken during hotel activities are clearly defined to prevent the deterioration of natural ecosystems. Sustainable practices have been adopted to prevent damage to natural landscapes, water resources, and wildlife sanctuaries.
- Sustainable Tourism and Biodiversity: Ecotourism activities offered by our hotel to its guests are carried out without harming the biodiversity of the region. In activities carried out in natural areas, practices that may harm wildlife are avoided. Tourist groups are limited and guests are reminded of their responsibility to protect nature by instilling environmental awareness.
